

Request for Application (RFA)-FF-SO-GC01

Strengthening Feed and Fodder Market System to Enhance the Resilience Capacity of Pastoral and Agro-pastoral Communities in RLP Targeted Areas

1. Background of the project

The Regional Livestock Program (RLP) is a 12-year initiative funded by the Swiss Agency for Development and Cooperation (SDC) and the Agence Francaise Development (AFD), and implemented by consortium members including IGAD, Helvetas, Welthungerhilfe, and Mercy Corps. The program is implemented in Somalia, Kenya, and Ethiopia. The program aims to bring about transformative change in the pastoral and Agro-pastoral areas of the Horn of Africa by creating a more productive, climate-resilient, inclusive, and competitive livestock sector.

The Regional Livestock Program (RLP) is implementing a Market Systems Development (MSD) approach aimed at stimulating sustainable, large-scale, and systemic change within the livestock trade sector. This approach emphasizes strategic partnerships with private sector and government actors to enhance market efficiency, profitability, and inclusivity, particularly for women and youth.

2. Objective of Call for Applications

The objective of this call for application is to catalyze and strengthen private sector engagement in feed and fodder market system to enhance the resilience capacity of pastoral and agro pastoral communities in RLP targeted areas. The intervention is expected to catalyze feed and fodder private sector enterprises to improve access to quality feed and fodder on a large scale to pastoral and agro-pastoral communities in the RLP program area.

RLP invites applications from existing business in fodder production, fodder cooperatives, small medium and large commercial fodder producers, feed retailers, feed agro-processing industries, feed processing cooperatives and other feed/fodder related enterprises who are interested in expanding their business to contribute the improvement access to quality feed and fodder for livestock producers, quarantine station, commercial camel and cattle dairy farms and fattening farms/feedlots.

The anticipated investments are expected to contribute to improving the supply chain of quality feeds and fodder along the line from wholesalers up to end users through establishing a strong business network, strengthening business relationship, and backwards & forwards linkage between market actors.

3. Program Target areas.

Mercy Corps welcomes applications from qualified businesses (as outlined above) operating within or adjacent to the RLP program-targeted regions, specifically Mudug, Nugaal, and Bari. Interested enterprises should demonstrate intent and capacity to expand their business and market reach within these priority areas.

Following a rigorous evaluation process, partnership agreements will be established with selected companies/enterprises based on the criteria detailed below. Where proposed activities require financial investment, participating businesses will be expected to contribute co-investment, either in cash or in-kind, toward the implementation of the agreed activities

4. Eligibility Criteria for application

Mercy Corps is interested in soliciting existing and operational fodder producing and feeds processing enterprises who fulfill the following ELIGIBILITY criteria for the co-investment to support their business expansion or/and growth to better support program target beneficiaries:

- Existing Operation: Existing and operational feed and fodder enterprises in the program-target areas.

- Experience: To the minimum, the applicant should be in operation of the business for at least six consecutive months before the date of the application in and/or around RLP target areas.
- Legal Registration: Should be legally registered under Somalia laws and policies (and where applicable Puntland state) and should have renewed business licenses.
- Financial Capacity: Committed and have the financial means/resources to contribute to implement proposed business ideas.
- Collaborative Engagement: Commitment/interest to work with small scale feed and fodder producers (mostly women and youth) and other actors along the Galkayo livestock trade corridor.
- Business Model: A clear and viable business model that enhances access to and utilization of livestock and meat services within the community.
- Transparency: Commitment to sharing relevant business and operational information with Mercy Corps upon request

5. Potential activities that could be supported

Proposed activities should be based on a sustainable private sector-led feeds and fodder production and delivery business model/ Market system resilience framework. The applicant is responsible for organizing and managing activities with small scale farmers and last mile communities with technical and/or cost-share financial support from Mercy Corps. Examples of activities that could be supported include, but are not limited to, the following:

- Develop business relationships with small and medium feeds and/or fodder producers, and livestock producers, to create dependable access and uses of feed/fodder and service at last mile to pastoralist and agro-pastoralist communities.
- Develop business relationships with feeds/ fodder suppliers to create a system that respond to the increasing demand of quality and consistent feed/fodder in the area. The anticipated investments are expected to contribute to improving the supply chain of quality feeds and fodder along the line from wholesalers up to end users through establishing a strong business network and backwards and forwards linkage/ system. Standardization of fodder and feeds systems, inventory management, establishing consistent feeds and fodder supply, and any other related innovative ideas are encouraged in this investment.
- Interested in providing support to small and medium feeds and fodder producers and traders in training and technical support as part of marketing strategy/ as embedded service in reaching last mile pastoral and agro pastoral.
- The business partners/applicants who have a clear strategy of market development for his/her products and services in a way that allows better access to inputs/services to target communities through capacitating the last mile service providers.
- Business ideas that create a mutual business relationship between key market actors to ensure the interdependent business relationship.
- Innovative ideas of establishing Private Public Partnership (PPP) to enhance the last mile feeds/ fodder service delivery system supported by official consent letter from the public partners that shows the joint interest for future partnership.
- Feed/fodder development business ideas that will have an added contribution to enhance peacebuilding and social cohesion for the target communities in the program.

The lists above are non-exhaustive and only listed to provide examples of some of the potential areas the RLP program could support but any additional ideas or a combination ideas/activities are encouraged, and all ideas will be considered based on its merits.

6. Areas not eligible for funding

- Financial support for working capital costs, regular employee salaries for existing permanent staff, and operational costs of the business such as transportation of goods, recurrent use item purchase and related. However, in the exceptional cases the project will consider the support of temporary staffing for new businesses (e.g. business involving new expansion) to bridge the technical capacity gaps of initial start-up phases. This will be decided based on the nature of the business idea and the level investment future impacts on the program goal.

7. Maximum amount of award and cost share requirements

The maximum amount of award that Mercy Corps' (MC) RLP contributes will be $50,000 for each business enterprise. The actual financial contribution will be dependent on the nature of the proposed business model and upon the review committee decision.

The applicant should contribute at least 50% of the total investment costs for those businesses only focused on PVP/PVC expansion without additional networking with last-mile service providers. However, for those business ideas planned to create extended business relationships and networking the program may consider contributing more than the indicated amount, based on the innovation, potential impact, scale, and context of the proposal.

The business enterprise that contributes/is willing to cost share above the minimum proposed based on the specific nature of the business idea (50% or 70%) will be encouraged and prioritized during the selection process.

The maximum number of business enterprises to be awarded will be dependent on the available budget.

8. Application Collection and review process

Mercy Corps invites proposals/applications from entities that meet the eligibility criteria outlined above. Applications should be submitted through email address and/or Mercy Corps Office detailed below starting from October 28th 2025.

Upon receipt, proposals will be evaluated according to the following process:

- Initial Application Screening:
A committee established by Mercy Corps will screen, score, and rank all received applications. Only applications that meet the eligibility criteria will be considered. Eligible applications will be assessed based on the criteria presented in Table 1. As needed, Mercy Corps may consult relevant government agencies to verify applicants' operational experience and commitments in the target area.
- Application Assessment:
Top-ranked businesses will undergo further evaluation by the Mercy Corps committee, including on-site verification and due diligence checks. The focus areas for assessment will depend on the type and nature of the submitted concept note.
- Business Plan Screening:
After completing the assessments, the Mercy Corps evaluation committee will conduct final scoring and ranking of the submitted business plans. Recommendations for support will then be made based on this final evaluation.

9. Sustainability and long-term impact

The applicants are expected to clearly demonstrate the sustainability of the intervention i.e., how does your enterprise plan to continue doing business after the closure of the project?
